

Professor David Ryan of the UMass Lowell Chemistry Department traveled to Honduras this month to present lectures on his research entitled “Ocean and Geologic Storage of Carbon Dioxide” at the Universidad Tecnológica de Honduras in El Progreso, Honduras.

More than 100 students attended from science and engineering disciplines as Dr. Ryan spoke through a translator.

