

Dr. David Ryan of the UMass Lowell Chemistry Department visited Kenya in July spending time at the University of Nairobi Department of Chemistry and at Laikipia University College. Professor Ryan presented his work on “Ocean & Geologic Storage of Carbon Dioxide” to faculty and graduate students in Nairobi on the Chiromo Campus . He was hosted by distinguished Professor Rafael Munavu at UN and Professor Francis Lelo, Principal of the Laikipia University College.

Dr. David Ryan with Professor Francis Lelo, Principal of the Laikipia University College

Roadside Spectators on the trip to Laikipia.

Dangerous vegetarians can be found

Building a Swiss Army Knife in Zurich